

NEWS RELEASE

For immediate release/Provided March 11, 2010

Glen Oaks offers inside view of chemistry

CENTREVILLE---The Science Department at Glen Oaks Community College is hosting a free program at 3 p.m., Monday, March 22 in the Business Development Center's Dresser Auditorium. Danielle Schultz, a third year graduate student at the University of Michigan, will explain "Chemistry: An Insider's Story" for interested students, faculty and members of the public. Ms. Schultz is a synthetic organic chemist with the John Wolfe Lab at the Ann Arbor campus and the American Chemical Society has published her 2010 abstract on a new method of synthesis.